ATR VERDICT: Annamix arrived with a lofty reputation from France but was disappointingly beaten at odds-on over Christmas, shaping as though he already needed further than this 2m distance. Owenacurra Lass was second in a good bumper at Cork in November and should do better over hurdles, but this can go the way of RAYA TIME, who was third behind Cheltenham Festival scorer City Island on St Stephen's Day and now wears a first-time hood for Henry De Bromhead after some solid efforts in defeat.

ATR VERDICT: MEGALOMANIAC took a step forward in his development when fifth at Wexford nine days ago and he should appreciate this step up from 2m now at a more stamina-demanding track. The six-year-old won't get too many better chances than this to strike, and makes greater appeal than Lady V, who should appreciate the addition of obstacles after failing to strike in four bumper efforts. Midnight Surprise has some reasonable form in the book but hasn't raced since August 2017.

Top Tip: MEGALOMANIAC (4)

ATR VERDICT: BRAIZE put in a fine display to finish fourth at Limerick on his first outing for 16 months nine days ago and he can only improve for that run. The eight-year-old has Rachael Blackmore on board once more, and the pair can account for My Forever Friend, who should appreciate this extra couple of furlongs compared to last time, and Buttevant Boy, who was third on his handicap debut here but has a big weight to carry today.

ATR VERDICT: ROYAL THIEF displayed plenty of promise when finishing third on his racecourse debut over hurdles at Naas. The son of Fame And Glory can only improve for that experience and he could prove hard to beat. Baboin and Conflated bring solid bumper form to the table and they also merit places on the shortlist, while Sneaky Getaway failed to complete on his debut 19 days ago but he should not be underestimated.

Top Tip: ROYAL THIEF (9)

Watch out for: BABOIN (1)
