ATR VERDICT: BOOMSHALAA has taken a massive step forward from two to three judged on his comeback victory at Kempton last month and, with further improvement on the cards, he could follow up under a penalty. Alphonse Karr has placed in each of his three starts thus far and rates the biggest threat, while Ayr fourth Twilight Magic might prove best of the remaining trio.

Top Tip: BOOMSHALAA (1)

ATR VERDICT: CAPTAIN CLARET picked up minor money over this trip at Bath when last sighted and is expected to remain competitive off this 2lb higher perch and mount another bold bid. C&D winner De Vegas Kid kept on strongly into second over 7f here recently and could appreciate the return to this longer trip to put up most resistance. The pick of the remainder may be Echo Beach, who has been off the track since scoring at Kempton in November.

ATR VERDICT: ATOMIC JACK was touched off by a head over 2m2f at Southwell in February and wouldn't need to find much improvement in order to gain compensation over this shorter trip. Cochise has been raised 5lb for scoring over 1m6f here 10 days ago but this step up in trip could be a source of immediate improvement. The pick of the remainder may be Warranty, who picked up the silver medal over 2m5f at Pontefract last month.

ATR VERDICT: GEE REX wasn't helped by a stumble at the start when a gamble for the Lincoln at the Curragh in March, whilst last time there was no apparent excuse for his odds-on eclipse at Ballinrobe. The Requito gelding has been worth sticking with through his career, eventually making the breakthrough at the 18th time of asking, and adding three wins since. It'll be interesting to see what champion jockey Colin Keane can get out of him on his first time to take the reins. First and second over track and trip 16 days ago, So I Told You and Hamley are among the dangers.

Top Tip: GEE REX (1)

ATR VERDICT: BELL EX ONE might be able to reverse Roscommon form from a week ago with Social Distance. In his bid to supplement gains accrued at Gowran on May 4th, Bell Ex One ran a cracker last time for second. He didn't have anything like as straightforward a run around as Social Distance (winner) and on 4lb better terms, the Cody runner is taken to turn the tables. Coming back a little in trip is not expected to hinder the prospective hurdler too much. Billy Lee is up for the first time, and trust the Limerick man to get the progressive type into a decent pitch from early on. In The Attic needs a market check beginning for new connections.

Top Tip: BELL EX ONE (1)

Watch out for: SOCIAL DISTANCE (4)

ATR VERDICT: This race looks all about INVER PARK, who brings winning C&D form to the table and showed that he has improved from two to three when making a winning reappearance at Ascot 11 days ago. A 4lb rise looks fairly lenient and he is fancied to follow up. The Thin Blue Line is entitled to improve for his comeback fourth at Thirsk and merits consideration lining up off the same mark, while Readman and Highest Ambition are others to watch out for.

ATR VERDICT: DIAMONDS AT DUSK finished ahead of the Pretty Polly Stakes winner Mystery Angel over a mile last year and, after a creditable effort over 7f on her latest outing, gets the vote to shed the maiden tag with James Doyle in the saddle. Little Gem is respected stepping up in trip on the hunt for successive victories, while Kayfast Warrior may sneak minor money if building on his previous run.

ATR VERDICT: FINISTERE ran a strong race from the front when second over this trip at Southwell last time and should be thereabouts on these terms if running to his mark. Beholden has been off the track since October but is worth monitoring in the betting, sporting a first-time tongue-tie, on his first outing since undergoing wind surgery. Kentucky Hardboot makes most appeal of the remainder.

ATR VERDICT: FRAGRANT STORM hadn't been living up to her billing on her first six starts, but the significant progress made from the back of the field on her latest outing suggested that the penny may be starting to drop. The daughter of Frankel gets the vote returning to this trip ahead of the George Scott-trained Tequila Tequila, while Blue Beret will be looking to improve on her first attempt at this distance.
