ATR VERDICT: Plenty of use was made out of Galveston when finishing third in the King Edward VII at Royal Ascot last time and this looks an easier assignment, so he is of interest. However, MERCHANT accounted for Rahiebb by over two lengths at York prior to his victory in the King George V at Royal Ascot. William Haggas' colt is improving at a rapid rate of knots and can take this step up in his stride. Sir Dinadan was far from disgraced in fifth in the Irish Derby last time and is another to keep an eye on.

ATR VERDICT: Already amongst the winners this week, David Loughnane can strike with the hat-trick seeking BRAVO ZULU. A six-time scorer on the all-weather, the National Defense gelding has landed his two most recent starts on turf and the four-year-old remains potentially well handicapped. A beaten favourite in stronger company last time, Retracement shouldn't be discounted, while Imposing Supreme and Artful Approach are others to consider in a competitive heat.

ATR VERDICT: A fascinating clash between generations with Oaks runner-up WHIRL and last year's second here See The Fire both holding excellent credentials. The latter was a wildly impressive winner of the Middleton at York in May before producing a fine effort when third to Ombudsman in the Prince Of Wales's at Royal Ascot. That said, she comes up against an extremely tough rival, whose form in winning the Pretty Polly at the Curragh was franked by Kalpana's strong display in the King George on Saturday. Prix de Diane runner-up Bedtime Story heads the remainder.

ATR VERDICT: A tad disappointing when beaten as a short-priced favourite at Kempton last August, DANCINGINTHERAIN is bred to improve with time and this looks like a perfect opportunity to break the maiden for Saeed bin Suroor's charge. A promising second on debut at Windsor recently, Alther Walden is entitled to have a big say, along with Arboreous, who brings plenty of experience to the table.

ATR VERDICT: NAVAL ACADEMY produced a better effort when finishing just over three lengths clear of the third in second at Carlisle in May and is just 3lb higher. The five-year-old remains on a workable mark and can return to winning ways. Ravishing Beauty struck in comfortable fashion at Pontefract earlier in the month and holds an obvious chance off a 7lb higher rating. Previous C&D winner Mini Mac isn't out of it either.

ATR VERDICT: HEY TRU BLUE made light work of the opposition when gaining a breakthrough victory in a maiden at Doncaster 21 days ago. An opening mark of 86 looks workable and, stepping up in trip, there could be more to come. Sir Albert continued his upward trajectory when completing a double on his handicap bow at Chester earlier this month and may serve the most resistance to the selection, ahead of Amazing Journey, who boasts a similar profile.

ATR VERDICT: Fergal O'Brien saddles DYSART ENOS and she might be worth a shot at a nice price. The Malinas mare looked like a star in the making early in her career but was slightly disappointing last term. She didn't run badly though when fourth in the Scottish Champion Hurdle and this nice ground should suit. A spin on the Flat recently should have left her spot on. Puturhandstogether was running a nice race in the Grimes Hurdle at Tipperary earlier this month until a mistake at the last. Joseph O'Brien also saddles another live contender in Mr Percy.
